

CRAIN'S

NEW YORK BUSINESS

RÉSUMÉ REVIEW

Is your job search all it could be?
We ask the experts.

NAME SHARON FENSTER

SUMMARY

High-energy public relations professional

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

- Jewish Board of Family and Children's Services, 2008 to present
Consultant; strategic media relations planning and execution
- Fenster Communications, 1999-2008
President
- The TemPositions Group of Companies, 1998-1999
Director of corporate communications
- Shandwick USA, 1996-1998
Media director, technology; managed a team of 15 PR professionals

EDUCATION

- University of Nevada, Reynolds School of Journalism, M.A., journalism
- Brooklyn College, B.A., speech and theater

Résumé appears in condensed form.

EXPERT ADVICE

Your wealth of experience at the executive level presents you with a challenging situation: You have very marketable skills, but there are only a handful of corporate jobs available that match your expertise. Your existing relationships put you in an excellent position to learn about any openings, however. Continue to volunteer, and leverage your relationships with fellow board members to see if they know anyone who's hiring. Reconnect with former clients to see if they or their clients have any in-house positions open.

—JOHN RICE, founder, Management Leadership for Tomorrow

To contact this candidate or to be featured in "Résumé Review," e-mail us at cnyb_resume@crainsnewyork.com.

